A MOST WONDERFUL WOMAN

PROPOSE COMBINE

House Insurgents Seek Means to Upset the Existing Organization.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6 .iome of the insurgents of the House are said to be trying on a new scheme to upset the House organization and rules in the new Congress. They have proposed to the Democrats to combine with them, amend the rules to suit a majority of this combination, and to allow the Democrats to select the Speaker of the House-provided they choose a Republican.

choose a Republican.

Whereat there are loud shouts of derision from the Democrats. The spectacle of Champ Clark, the minority leader, standing up and looking over the little group of Republican insurgents for a successor to Speaker Cannon, and then swinging into line his solid phalanx of the unterrified Democracy of the House to make the selection good, somehow fails to appeal to the Democratic mind.

"It would be 'a sight for gods and men," said a Democrat to-day, "but not an ediffying one, for any Democrat who had more political sense than the emblem of our party which a contemptuous majority has picked out for us. It wouldn't be even donkey sense, let alone 'horse sense."

This Democrat went on to say that when the tempters laid out this program they received a cold reception. "No." was, the reply; "it you insurgents are dissatisfied with your party, and have deep-sented cause for offonse, do as those brave Republicans did at St. Louis in 1895, when they waiked out of the Republican National Convention because of refusal to accept the gold plank in the platform.

Invited to Become Democrats.

"Come across, and we will welcome you with open arms, kill the fatted calf and array you in robes of honor. Then you can sit down, and while disposing of the yeal, talk over the speakership election. You will be as welcome as the flowers of spring.

"But you will have to come across first. It is a pretty cheeky proposition for a score of you discontented Republicans to expect the entire Democratic membership to pull your chestnuts out of the fire. Excuse us, if you please."

To return to the suggested spectacle of Champ Clak leoking over the insurgent camp for a 'likely sandi. Whereat there are loud shouts of
